

Dina Brewster

Dina Brewster is a farmer at The Hickories, a certified organic farm in Ridgefield, CT that raises annual and perennial fruits and vegetables as well as pastured livestock. The Hickories has been producing food for Ridgefielders for over two hundred and fifty years.

Dina is currently stewarding the land through its recent transition to certified organic production. She and fellow farmers at The Hickories manage a Community Supported Agriculture Program that seeks to connect local families to locally grown food.

In addition to managing production at The Hickories, Dina seeks to develop new farmers to preserve a future for safe and sustainable agriculture.